

Please come join us Friday thru Sunday in room 216 to experience these oils first hand and how these tiny little bottles can be beneficial to your health!

We will have several homemade items that are infused with essential oils to purchase.

We will also be having an Intro to Essential Oils class on Saturday at 10:00am in the lecture room. And again at 1:30pm and 5:00pm in our room 216. On Sunday, we will also have a class on ways to swap out every day cleaning products in your house and swap in natural affordable alternatives at 11:00am in our room 216. Believe me you don't want to miss out on this!! With the weather changes coming very soon, come learn how these little oil bottles will have everything you need to get started on the right foot for your oil journey!
